Greeting

TO

THE FRIENDS OF MY YOUTH AND LATER YEARS, TO ALL THOSE WHO LOVE THE LIFE IN THE COUNTRY AND
BY THE SHORE, AND TO THOSE FOND OF SONGS,
SACRED AND SECULAR, THIS LITTLE BOOK
COMES AS A KINDLY GREETING, A
KINDLY ACCEPTANCE IS MY WISH.

A copy of this book will be mailed postpaid on receipt of 50 cents.

Address

B. F. BROWN, Muskegon, Michigan.

INTRODUCTORY

THIS little volume of verses has many lines which, while I read, make me, in imagination, actually present among the scenes and with the associations there portrayed—in fact, these verses are born of my life in the country among the hills and valleys of New England, born of my school-days in the “schoolhouse on the hill,” of the days on the “old farm,” of the “sleighing parties,” “school exhibitions,” “singing schools” and many other happy times in childhood, youth and later years.

I hope these verses may touch the feelings of many who read them, and that, like the treasures in our memories, “while we sit by the fireside and ponder them o’er,” peace may “comfort our hearts like a sweet benediction.”

For those shown in the index with star attached I have written melodies (not, however, in this book) suitable to enhance the feelings expressed in the words. On the “Old Farm” was the home of my boyhood, and many years ago the home of General Israel Putnam, famous in the records of the War of the Revolution. I cordially welcome the readers of this little book.

B. F. BROWN.

From Life's Experience

THE SUMMER MORN.

A blush of pink melting in the blue
With a lingering star just peeping through,
A glow of light where the robin sings,
The breath of the roses' blossomings,
The silver webs on the meadow grass
With tiny dewdrops overcast.
The soft air stirred by the waking breeze
To a low sweet song through the leafy trees,
A thrill of joy in our souls newborn.
All tell of the beautiful summer morn.

THE SUNSET.

A royal gem was the rosy west,
Of heaven's works, the loveliest,
Draped with a sheen of opal light,
The day's farewell to the summer night.

We watched while the Artist changed its tone,
Till the brightest tints had softer grown,
And as we gazed on the picture fair,
We felt the hand of the Master there.

THE WINTER DAY.

Bright is the dawn of the winter morn
And icy the winds that blow
Through the valleys and over the hills,
Curling the drifts of snow.

The storm is over, the stars grow dim,
The moon sinks in the west.
A rosy glow on the hills of snow,
A morning with beauty blest.

In the forest nook, by the ice bound brook
The pine trees wear a shroud,
And over their green its folds are seen
White as a summer cloud.

Now the sleigh bells ring, and the horses fling
Their hoofs on the polished road,
And the happy throng, as they glide along,
Is life with joy o'erflowed.

There's a charming play of the winter day
On the heart, with a touch that thrills,
And the cords of life grow strong for strife
And the soul with courage fills.

THE SLEIGHING PARTY.

There's no school tomorrow, say, won't it be jolly,
We'll have a nice time with Susie and Molly;
No lessons to learn, no problems to do,
I'm awfully glad, I bet, so are you.

The teacher has asked the whole school to come
As a big sleighing party to visit his home;
It's fully ten miles and we'll all go together,
Old "Prob" states tonight, there'll be beautiful weather.

Charlie says that your father has got a big sleigh
And that he'll let him have it and also his grey,
Then we'll take our old Dobbin and make up a span
And we'll lead the party, keep up if they can.

That sleigh is a box, and we'll sit in the straw
And have the best time that ever you saw.
Take Susie and Molly, then Johnnie and Ben,
And we'll find enough more to make our load ten.

To welcome our coming, there'll be a big dinner,
Roast turkey and fixings, or else I'm a sinner;
And next we'll play games till time to go home;
I hardly can wait for tomorrow to come.

ON THE OLD FARM.

Far away on the dear old farm
Is a home with a lasting charm,
    Old and gray;
Its roof with moss is covered
Where the waving branches hovered
    Many a day.

How often has the dawning
Of a beautiful June morning,
    Long ago,
At my window blushed while telling
Of the roses sweetly smelling,
    Just below.

The beauty, like a blessing,
Of Nature, sweet, caressing,
    Filled the air;
The woods and fields were glorious,
And summer reigned victorious Everywhere.

In meadows sweet with haying
We, happy children playing Wandered free;
The birds sang gaily o'er us
While we would join the chorus,
    Full of glee.

The round eyed daisies, spying
The blue where clouds were flying,
    Seemed to say
"Though sweet at times life's story,
Up yonder lies its glory,
    Far away."

Beside the brooklet flowing
We found fair gentians growing,
    Heavenly blue;

POEMS FROM LIFE'S EXPERIENCE

And later, nuts delicious
Encased in burrs malicious,
Two by two.

Of work we made a pleasure
In filling many a measure,
Husking corn;
Plump turkeys, round us feeding,
Thanksgiving all unheeding,
Fatal morn.

By fireside's ruddy glow,
Outside, the drifting snow,—
We would meet;
With apples, ripe and red,
And nuts on table spread,
Such a treat.

And as the flames leaped higher
We, gazing in the fire,
Seemed to see
Old Santa Claus, gifts bringing,
While Christmas bells were ringing Merrily.

We had no thought of sorrow,
'Twas joy today, tomorrow,
Then,—always.
Ah, me, as years grow older,
The world seems hard and colder,
Shorn of rays.

But far beyond its toiling,
Beyond its sad turmoiling,
Shines the light
Of Heaven, a joy forever,
Where the bright day shall never End in night.

CROWS IN THE CORN FIELD.

Hang them old crows, they pull up the corn,
The thievingest critters that ever were born;
Dad sez "If we get one," he'll give us a quarter;
That "if" 's a high fence and I think that he'd orter.

I took that old gun and shot at 'em twice,
But they didn't care, the corn was too nice,
So I just fired again, hit one in the tail
And then they flew off, had plenty of sail.

Say, Billy, I'm full of a dandy idee,—
Way back in our woods is a tall chestnut tree,
There's a nest near the top, for I heard the "caw, caw"

Of a crow flying there, 'twas the little crows' maw.

A crow is a crow whether old or its young,
If we get all those young ones, why Dad will be stung;

So we'll shin up the tree, I bet we'll get four
And that will knock Dad for a dollar or more.

I expect he will squeal but that won't do any good,
Them young ones are eating his corn for their food;
A quarter for one means a dollar for four
And if he hesitates we'll stick him for more.

THE SCHOOL EXHIBITION.

The skool exhibition, why a'nt you a goin'?
They say that our skolars will make a big showin';
The hull skool cummitty will be there ter-night,
And the children will bring lots of candles to light.

Down in the Smith Valley they had one last night,
And them as has seen, 'sed 'twan't much of a sight;
And in the Jones deestrick they didn't do well,
But we'll show 'em how, make 'em think fer a spell.

Jim's a practicin' now, every evening this week,
He's up in the atick, you kin hear his boots squeak;
He's goin' ter speak of an Injun so brave
That he'd swim till he drowned, 'fore he'd be a darn slave.

You know, our Salomie'll stand up and recite,
She'll look terribul nice, goin' ter dress all in white.
Jed Stebbins, he's borrowed a yaller box sleigh,
Throw'd out all ther seats, put in sum bog hay.

An' reckins he'll carry ez many's a duzen,
By usin' two hosses, got one from his cuzen.
Cy, he'll do the drivin' and Jed pack 'em in,
They're sure ter git there 'fore the show will begin.

Don't sit there a smokin', just finish yer chores,
Put on yer black trowses, them others is tore;
Be sure and start arly, take Jim and Salome,
After washin' the dishes, I'll ride down with Jerome.

NATURE'S PLAY.

Blue is the sky dome over the green,
Golden the sunshine sifting between
Branches that lazily sway in the breeze,
Showering the shadows under the trees
With arrows of light from the quiver of noon,
By the bow whose arch is the bright sky of June.

Sweet is the air with the perfume of flowers
Yielding their life through the long sunny hours;
With the song of the birds and the kiss of the dawn
To give them a welcome, their beauty was born.
And now seeks the sun its nightly repose,
While over its couch drapes a curtain of rose.

The clouds rolling upward in waves from the west,
Wear the colors of heaven with silvery crest,
Where the moon proudly sailing dispenses her light
Till the little stars modestly creep out of sight.
These beautiful charms of the night and the day
Are glorious acts in Nature's grand play.

In Elm Park, Worcester, Mass.

THE SUMMER NIGHT.

Soft whispering in the leafy trees,
The slumber-soothing gentle breeze
With fairy wand disturbs the air,
Filled with the breath of roses rare.

The katydid 'mid fluttering leaves
Declares she did, perhaps deceives;
The whip-poor-will has wish intense
That Will should smart for some offence.

Descending in the langourous night,
With silent move, the moonlight bright
Creeps through the windows, just to peep
At white robed darlings, lost in sleep.

O summer night! 'tis Nature's sleep,
O'er all the earth its rest will creep,
And he, who daily does his best,
Will largest share in Nature's rest.

AFTER HUCKLEBERRIES.

Did you ever go for berries in the pasture lot,
Go barefoot, where thistles prick, to find the thickest spot?

Six-quart pails you used to fill, nothing else would do,
Mother wanted them for pies, and 'twas up to you.

In those August days, you know, it was awful hot,
Largest berries never grew in a shady spot;
So when you were melting fast, tired from the heat,
You would break the bushes down, find a shady seat.

Underneath those big oak trees, just a mile from school,
There you'd pick the berries off, feeling nice and cool;
Then you'd go and break some more, bring a big pile back,
Dodging thistles here and there and the wasps' attack.

You would never go alone, all the neighbors knew
Where to send their boys and girls, where best berries grew;
So there was a jolly time, every pail was full,
When suddenly appeared in sight the farmer's angry bull.

He bellowed loud and pawed the earth, we scampered towards the wall
And safely reached the other side with no one hurt at all.
But berries! there they stayed all day, and there
they stayed all night,
And there, perhaps, they're staying now if that big bull's in sight.

HAYING, SOME MEMORY TALKS.

Did you ever smell the new mown grass,
Or ever have leisure the time to pass,
Though short, yet sweet, in the field to rest
While the haying season was at its best?
If so, you heard the birds' sweet song,
You watched, you listened and waited long
And shortened the time for your homeward walk
You can't forget, there'll be memory talk

In a quiet way,
Of the pleasures you had that summer day.

Down in the meadow in haying time,
In days of old, when the scythes would chime,
While the men, in shirts and overalls,
Would whet them sharp for many falls
Of the waving grass into winrows sweet,
And the straw-hat boy with scratched bare feet
Would spread it wide with his two-tined fork;
Is the place that makes my memory talk

In a quiet way,
Of the old home farm and making hay.

And then, in the fervid afternoon
We would rake the hay up none too soon,
For the thunder-heads in the west appeared
Like fleece from a sheep that was newly sheared;
No time to waste, 'twas the workers' test,
For the clouds grew darker in the west,
'Twas a rush to the barn, to run, not walk;
And that, too, makes my memory talk

In a quiet way,
Of how we escaped the shower that day.

SUNDAY IN THE COUNTRY.

Sunday morning, no lying abed,
The cows must be milked and the chickens fed;
Breakfast after the morning prayers,
Housework then with its many cares;
Every day there is work to do
Which can't be left, if you are true.

Get ready for meeting, for all must go,
The deacon plans to have it so;
Hitch up the horses, two wagon loads,
Three miles to go on hilly roads;
At half past ten the bell will ring
And very soon the choir will sing,
Sometimes, the anthem, "Strike the Cymbal,"
A favorite of leader Kimball.

A sermon long you listen to,
He looks at me, then turns to you
And makes you feel you are a sinner,
Still, somehow, in your mind is dinner;
And that won't be till half past three,
For Sunday School the next will be,
Then, in the sleepy afternoon
The choir will start another tune.

Another sermon yet to come
While little folks all long for home.
When church is out, those wagons fill
And homeward turn to climb the hill,
A part in one, part in the other;
But once, was left the smallest brother,
No count was made before they started
And he slept sound when they departed.

POEMS FROM LIFE'S EXPERIENCE

But when they all sat down to dinner,
Why, then they missed that little sinner
Until a neighbor brought him in,
(His face spread wide with cheerful grin)
Who said, "I've got a kindly heart,
But count, next time, before you start."
'Twas Roosevelt's plan of family,—
Now days, none lost, when only three.

NUTTING.

In the bright October weather,
After winds and rain together,
Whipped the trees like strips of leather,
Then, we children, merry-hearted,
From the husking gladly parted,
And with bags and baskets started,
Bound to gather nuts delicious,
Nuts inclined to be capricious
By the burrs supremely vicious.

Gee, the burrs were most provoking,
With a match we made them smoking,
Roast the chestnuts by our poking.
Under leaves and branches hiding
Many chestnuts were abiding
Just to help us by providing
All we wished to homeward carry,
Nuts for Tom and Jim and Harry.
Satisfied, we did not tarry.

THE HILLS OF OLD NEW ENGLAND.

O, the hills of old New England,
How the pictures come and go
As my fancy paints their beauty
'Mid the scenes of long ago;
The old home beneath the maples
Where the happy children play,
E'en now their voices reach me
Till it seems but yesterday.

On a hill of old New England
By the spreading boughs of green
Stands the school house of my boyhood;
Many years now roll between—
Let the past become the present,
Brush the mists of years away
And once more upon that hillside
Life is all a holiday.

O, the hills of old New England
Rolling on 'neath summer skies,
Forest-crowned or waving verdure,
How their glory fills our eyes;
Many lands I've traveled over,
On their sunny slopes to rest,
But the hills of old New England
Are the ones I love the best.

POEMS FROM LIFE'S EXPERIENCE

O, the hills of old New England,
Would you all their beauty know,
See them in the winter moonlight,
When their brows are white with snow;
When the Ice-King drapes their shoulders
And like sentinels they stand,
Ever watching, cold and silent,
'Till the morn breaks o'er the land.

O, the hills of old New England,
Could their stories all be told,
Of the joys and griefs among them
In the days now growing old;
Many hearts would throb with pleasure,
Many tears perchance might flow,
But we long once more to linger
Round those hills of long ago.

REFRAIN

O, their beauty in the springtime,
In the morn or sunset glow,
Fairer still in breath of summer,
Glorious in winter's snow;
O, the hills of old New England,
How my heart with rapture thrills,
As I wander back in mem'ry
To those old New England hills.

THE MIS-PLACED SWITCH.

Wearily, tearfully tramping home,
—For the automobile refused to come,—
Hatless, switchless, the maiden, fair
Excepting the spots where mud was there,
Declared that never again she'd go
In an automobile without her beau.

For highly elated, that summer morn
She tooted and tooted her auto horn
And tried to attain a marvelous speed,
To the curves in the road she gave no heed,
But the auto thus driven, go farther would not,
Turned turtle and puffed in the meadow lot,

And safely rolled that maiden gay
Over a pile of new mown hay,
Sliding her into a muddy ditch
Where the sticky ooze destroyed her switch;
'Twas a lovely crop she had raised herself
Since the days when she was a little elf.—
Lucky for "Maud" the "Judge" wasn't there
To see her without that bunch of hair.

The automobile was upside down,
'Twas the most expensive in the town,
But the dearest thing that perished there
Was the switch of the maiden's home-grown hair.
For the years will come and the years will go
But never again on her head will grow
Enough to make such a dandy switch
As she lost that day in the muddy ditch.

THE WRECK OF THE TITANIC.

There was wealth of beauty and wealth of gold
Of value naught 'gainst a fate untold,
The humble, poor and the millionaire,
As the ship went down grew equal there.

Down in the depths their forms will rest,
But far above from the regions blest
Came the Father's love and His helping hand
To give them life in the Better Land.

We never dream that our span of life
May be cut short, while pleasure's rife;
But, listen,—this the ages chime,
Life here is dust on the wheels of time.

THE BLUSH OF DAWN.

'Neath the starry dome, from its eastern rim,
Timid and pale, comes the daylight dim;
A blush appears as the waking dawn
Approaches night, tells of day unborn.
Her blushes startle, impel the night
With star trimmed mantle to take its flight;
The blushes vanish, their work is done,
For soon appears the rising sun.

THE COUNTRY BOY.

On a tick filled with straw, sleeping soundly he lay,
A sleep that was perfect, for labor, part pay;
No youth in the city could ever enjoy
The pleasure of rest as much as that boy.

The calls of the morning awaken the lad,
Shirt, pants, one suspender, enough, he's full clad;
Not a minute is wasted, for all of the cows
Must be milked before sunrise and turned out to browse.

No short hours of labor has this country boy,
He knows that no farmer could that way enjoy;
For when winter arrived the purse would be lean
And a struggle till springtime the only path seen.

After breakfast 'tis pleasant, in garden and field
To work with a will for a full harvest yield,
There's planting and hoeing and haying-time, too,
And two holidays, just jewels for you.

'Twas no hardship to work, how often I think
Of the days, hoeing corn, how the proud bobolink
Just sings till his throat seems bursting with glee
And all of his song is intended for me.

POEMS FROM LIFE'S EXPERIENCE

O, don't you remember the day at the fair,
Every one whom you knew was sure to be there,
And bashful and awkward, your feelings awlirl,
You could look, more than talk, when you met that dear girl.

In winter the parties, the sleighing, the school,
The games played at noontime, be fair was the rule;
The good-night at the ending, the slide down the hill,
And pleasures, full many, the winter would fill.

O, boys in the cities, who think that you live
And have better times than the country can give;
Know this to be true, that the bright country lad
Has pleasures far more than you ever have had.

Fast life in the city, like brass covered with gold,
Becomes artificial and spoils when it's old;
But life in the country, lived true to the end,
Has all nature's charms that life to befriend.

THE SINGING SCHOOL.

Now altogether, high from low,
Do, ra, mi, fa, sol, la, ci, do;
Just follow me and sing just so,
Do, ci, la, sol, fa, mi, ra, do.

The violin, as he swings the bow,
Brings out the sounds, now high, now low,
And the teacher, singing and playing, too,
Is an awesome sight to his country crew.

"And now," he says, "I will voices test;
You, Thomas Jones, just sing your best."
And Tom gives forth a rumbling roar,
A bass untrimmed and something more.

"Now, Mary Ann, it's up to you.
Just show me now what you can do."
And the healthy blonde, with the yellow hair,
Soprano proves while the hearers stare.

"A voice I heard in the rear end seat,
Will Billy Smith the tone repeat?"
Then Smith, he gave a piercing yell,
Till the oil lamps shook, 'twas a tenor spell.

"An alto now we want to hear,
I think we have one sitting near."
And Nellie sang, a voice so sweet,
That all the school said, "please repeat."

And so he picked them, one by one,
Till finally the task was done;
And singing school in the town hall
Was started in the early fall.

SCHOOL-DAYS IN THE COUNTRY.

In the dewy morning, over hills and dales,
Merry voices ringing, shining dinner-pails;
Up the hill they scramble towards the school-house
door,
Just as you and I did,—many years before.

Little bare-foot Tommy, Rob and sister Sue,
Curly-headed Mary in her suit of blue,
Row by row they're seated, faces all aglow,
'Cepting "Stubby Peter," sliver in his toe.

Teacher calls to order, "Class in 'rithmetic,
Places at the black-board, every one be quick."
How the chalk does rattle till the problem's done;
Bennie proves the victor, calls out "Number one."

Now the writing lesson; see them try to write,
Noses near the paper, some with tongue in sight,
Little heads atwisting, think they'll do it better;
Gracious! what an effort, just to make a letter.

So the lessons follow till the noon is near;
Then a solemn stillness while they wait to hear
Just a little tingle, then with rush and roar,
From the desks and benches, out the school-house
door.

Pour the lads and lasses, bound to have some fun,
Every minute precious till the clock strikes one.
"School-days in the country"; were you ever in it?
What a world of gladness pressed in every minute.

THE CIRCUS.

Say, Jimmy, I read in the papers last night,
The circus is coming to town;
So get your best girl and I will take mine
And we'll hitch up the horse and go down.

I saw near the village, on old Allen's barn,
A picture of tigers a jumping,
And elephants big with tails at both ends;
I tell you, that circus is something.

Tomorrow we'll go and I don't care a darn,
If when we get home, it's a licking,
For we work all the time and don't get a dime
And whenever I rest, Dad is kicking.

There'll be girls riding horses, with skirts like umbrellas,
And stockings as long as your breeches;
They're all pink and white, a most beautiful sight,
Their riding, the fancy bewitches.

For peanuts and popcorn and lemonade, too,
We'll spend for the girls lots of money
And laugh till we ache, while our jackets will shake,
For the clown will be awfully funny.

When down in the village, we'll go to the store
And purchase pie, doughnuts and cheese
And fruit, sweetened and canned, the very best brand,
For a lunch with the girls 'neath the trees.

So keep your eyes bright, for money is tight,
And whenever you can, grab a copper,
For we'll need all we get, tomorrow, you bet;
If we're questioned, we'll tell them a whopper.

THE SCHOOL-HOUSE ON THE HILL.

In the golden summer morning,
Down the sunny winding road,
By the verdant, flowery meadows;
—How my heart with joy o'erflowed—
O, the happy days of childhood,
Recollection brings a thrill,
As in fancy now I wander
Near the school-house on the hill.

Birds are singing by the wayside,
There's a nest 'mid bowers of green,
Berries ripe stain little fingers
While they search the briars between:
Wealth of beauty, joy and sunshine,
Nature's best our longings fill
While we trudge along the pathway
Towards the school-house on the hill.

Blue the skies that shine above it,
Curtained by the whispering trees,
Rich the memories clustering round it
Sweeter than the summer breeze.
Smooth and hollow is its doorstep,
Worn and thin its ancient sill
By the little feet that entered
In the school-house on the hill.

THERE'S A REASON WHY.

When you slid down the cellar door,
And carelessly your pants you tore,
And mother spanked the place, till sore,
    There's a reason why.

And when the school had not begun,
The school-bells rang and you would run
The other way and found no fun,
    There's a reason why.

When for that girl you seemed to care
And wouldn't take her anywhere,
Her smile dropped to an icy stare,
    There's a reason why.

And when your soul was full of greed
To capture more than you would need,
And finally did not succeed,
    There's a reason why.

And when you neared life's journey's end,
And found yourself without a friend,
Why, then you knew the reason why,
    The reason why.

GIDEON SMITH THE JOINER.

"Carpenter & Joiner" that was his sign,
But he'd join everything that entered his mind;
The first baby show in the old Town Hall
He joined and joined in the baby squall.

Later he joined in the primary class,
Joined the teacher in kissing a beautiful lass.
Joined in the singing, then joined in the prayer
And in every quarrel that happened there.

Still later, when larger and able to play,
Joined all the ball clubs that came in his way;
He joined in licking the umpire, too,
Whenever the chap wouldn't join in his view.

O, that Gideon Smith, he joined the church
And societies, all he could find by search.
The Masons, the Elks, the Oddfellows, too.
Why, he joined them all and longed for new.

He joined with Salomie in wedlock bonds,
Then joined with the preacher in holding her hands;
He joined in living with her the life
That made them happy, as man and wife.

He joined in the crowd that went to his grave,
But there, left alone, just his record to save.
He concluded to leave and join Gideon's band
And in singing the songs in the heavenly land.

THE QUILTING BEE.

"Sary, you must sweep the parlor
And then open all the blinds,
All them frames are in the garret,
Wish we had some better kinds.
But you bring 'em down, we'll use 'em,
Put 'em on those high-back chairs.
Reckin they're as good as Hubbards'
Or as others any where.

"Widder Maine and Mary's comin'
Allens, Hubbards, Chapmans, too.
There'll be plenty for the quiltin',
And we'll have a sight to do;
I'm a goin' to do some cooking,
Make some bread and jelly cake,
Sugar-quince, some tea and cookies,
That's enough for them to take.

"Here they are: 'why, Mandy Wiggins,
Where on 'arth is sister Liz?'
'O, she's feelin' purty meechin,
Got a touch of rheumatiz.'
Never mind, we'll do some hustling,
Things are ready for you all,
Seems as if your new skirt's rustling,
Mandy, ain't you gettin' tall?

Sakes alive! why look at Sally,
My, she's gettin' awful fat;
How's she makin' out with Hally?
Bet he don't know what she's at.
T'other day I heard that Cyndy
Hoped to catch that city chap,
Just because the brazen feller
Tried to take her in his lap.

POEMS FROM LIFE'S EXPERIENCE

"Widder Maine sez: 'tain't no jokin'
'Bout them little Hubbard twins,
When you sort 'em, do some pokin'
Till you find two safety pins;
That one's Jimmie, always wears 'em;
Johnnie, he ain't got but one.
My! if anybody tears 'em
Off the young uns there'll be fun.'

"There, I guess you all need resting,
Come into the settin' room,
Mandy's in there, tea a-testing,
—Made this carpet on my loom—
Sit down now, don't stop for dressin'
Wish the minister was here,
But our Sary'll ask the blessin'
We kin eat then without fear.

"Mandy, won't you pour the tea,
Middlin' weak or, mabbe, strong,
Won't you all say how you like it
'Fore I pass the cups along?
Take some bread and home made butter,
Try my cake, it's awful good.
There's some quince and sugar cookies,
Tried to make the best I could.

"Well, I hope you've all had plenty,
'Don't go hungry,' is my say,
And I'm awful glad the quiltin'
Is all finished nice today;
Thank you for the help to do it,
Now I bid you all good-night.
Men folks eat an awful sight."

IN SUMMER TIME.

There's a mystery enchanting
In the whispering summer breeze,
Charming us to full surrender
In the hammock 'neath the trees;
Drowsy murmurings above us
Of the rustling, timid leaves,
Weaves a sleepy mantle o'er us
And from weariness relieves.

There's a laziness that credits,
Resting brings a rich return
Of the strength reduced by toiling,
Toiling hard the prize to earn.
Glorious Summer tells the story
Of all nature in full prime,
Bringing us a feeling prescient
Of a glad vacation time.

PEEP, PEEP, PEEP.

Way down in the swamp, by the pasture near,
Peep, peep, peep,
The first voices of spring, spring actually here.
Peep, peep, peep,
They are little peep-frogs
In invisible togs,
Peep, peep, peep,
When the twilight descends
Thus they call to their friends,
"Spring gently awakes
From our long slumber takes Till we
Peep, peep, peep."

IN MEMORY'S CHAMBER.

In the chamber of memory are beautiful treasures,
Enticing us often to enter its doors;

Its pictures are full of the dearest of pleasures,

And, O, how we long just to live them once more.
How swift sped the hours, how bright was the sunlight,

How happy the seasons those pictures recall,
Through the veil o'er the past their radiance glimmers,

Like glow of the sunset when night shadows fall.

One canvass, presenting a scene of my childhood,

Shows sweet little faces and white slumber clothes
Encircling the fireside, whose bright, sparkling embers

Discover the darlings just warming their toes.

Another I see,—now the years have grown older,

And softly the moonlight its drapery throws
'Round a beautiful face, nestling close to my shoulder
Enchanting and sweeter than June's blushing rose.

There are moments so precious, they sparkle like diamonds,

There are hours rich as rubies, whose record is there.

There are days, like rare gems, when the blue arch
of Heaven

Seems the curtain of Paradise, wondrously fair.

These treasures are ours, ours now and forever,

Their beauty unfading, time adds to their store;
Peace comforts our hearts, like a sweet benediction,
While we sit by the firelight and ponder them o'er.

HIS WEALTH TO GAIN.

By the fireside he sat in his easy chair,
Sat watching the embers glowing there,
And thinking of days in the long ago,
When he chose a way in life to go.

In those days of old, ah, life was sweet,
Its sorrows drowned by joys complete;
The look ahead was a charming view,
The stopping places bright and new.

His purpose then was wealth to gain,
To strive and never from that refrain,
And now, at last he had reached the goal,
But the embers of life must pay the toll.

He watched the embers, while, one by one,
Their light went out like the setting sun,
And thought while he sat in his easy chair,
That his all must fade like the embers there.

A QUARTET OF WILD FLOWERS.

Yellow Cowslips

Out in the woods in the early spring
When the joy of birds just makes them sing;
Down in the swamp where the alders grow,
Twixt mossy bogs where dull waters flow;
With bright green leaves, near the mosses old
Are the early cowslips with hues of gold.

What a joy supreme, just to wander there
From bog to bog, look out! take care!
Then a careless tread betrays your feet
And their muddy tops is mud complete;
A few more steps and you make a pull
For the solid ground with your basket full.

The songs of spring are in the air,
The swelling buds their faith declare
That the winter days are past and gone
And the green trimmed boughs are hastening on
To make the woods a leafy bower
Where the sunlight shoots its arrow shower.

Daisies

Daisies purple, daisies white,
Ox-eyed daisies, golden bright;
Every little blossom knows,
When the summer south wind blows,
Waving grassy slopes in June,
That its short life endeth soon.

POEMS FROM LIFE'S EXPERIENCE

So it uses all its power,
Buds are opening every hour
Fields of daisies, purest white
Glisten in the soft sunlight,
Gaily dotted here and there
Where the happy children are.

Picking all they want and more,
Making daisy chains galore,
Shouting, laughing, full of glee,
Not a care, from labor free.
Daisy time in leafy June
Perfect chord in Nature's tune.

Golden Rod

Near the old stone walls, by the country road,
Close by the fence, after fields are mowed,
Bowing politely, to those who have trod
Over the hills, is the golden-rod.

All day long with the winds at play,
Growing in beauty day by day;
Counting its bloom as a mass of gold,
Despising all others as poor and old.

O, the golden-rod is a proud young thing
And sways its head with a saucy fling,
But when you meet it and stop a while,
It greets you then with a winning smile.

Blue Fringed Gentian

Blue fringed gentian
Claims attention
In September hours;
Born of sunlight,
'Tis its birthright,
Queen of all wild flowers.

You must travel
To unravel
Questions where to find it;
One year, hither,
Next year, thither;
Leaves no trace behind it.

By the brookside
Near the noontide,
There its beauty glows;
Buds uplifted,
Opened, rifted,
When the sunshine flows.

Sky blue tinges,
Dainty fringes
'Round their lovely bells;
Is the story
of their glory
That the vision tells.

SLEEP, REST AND WAKING.

Sleep on, sleep on,
Sleep while the night dews are falling;
Sleep on, sleep on,
Sleep while shineth the starlight;
Sleep on, sleep on,
Hours for slumber are calling;
Sleep on, sleep on,
Sleep till cometh the daylight.

Sleeping, sleeping,
Moonbeams and shadows are swaying;
Softly, gently,
Under the green leafy bowers;
Resting, resting,
While the night breezes are playing;
Waking, waking,
Gone are the sleeping hours.

Arise, arise,
For brightly shines the dawning;
Arise, arise,
The night is past and gone;
Arise, arise,
For now awakes the morning,
Arise, arise,
The summer day is born.

Sunshine, sunshine,
Robe of the beautiful morning;
Falling, falling,
Draping the garden of flowers;
Smiling, smiling,
Valley and hilltop adorning;
Sunshine, sunshine,
Charming the summer hours.

ROSES.

Down in the garden I wandered one morn,
Looking for roses sweet;
Roses in blossom with night dews thereon,
Robed in a beauty complete.
Searching I found the fairest ones there,
Born while the stars shone above;
Breathing their fragrance, their perfume rare,
Sweet as a message of love.

Only the best of the roses I took,
Roses I knew she would prize;
Payment in full would be her kind look,
Just a look from the dearest blue eyes,
I gave her the roses, said never a word
But watched the light shine in her eyes,
And then, in return, no language was heard,
Her gift was the sweetest surprise.

MARY'S PICTURE.

Mary had her picture "took,"
Sitting in a little nook
'Neath the trees, all dressed in white,
In a warm caressing light,
In a soft and mellow light;
Sitting there she looked so sweet,
Looked so tantalizing sweet
That my heart was in a flutter,
In a wild and happy flutter
And some words I longed to utter,
Longed, but had no chance to utter,
Grew so warm within me burning,
That unto my window turning.
Soft I breathed my words and prayer
That the throbbing, conscious air,
Which would never fail to reach her,
All those words might surely teach her.

DAYS OF OUR CHILDHOOD.

Out of the past, from the bright days of yore,
Treasures unnumbered in memory's store,
Comfort our hearts, while the night shadows fall,
Bringing the old times back to us all.
Far, far away, are those beautiful isles,
Days of our childhood enrapt with its smiles;
Far, far away, yet with favoring gales,
Sometimes we reach them in memory's sails.

Sweet are the songs that we heard long ago,
Sweeter the singers whose voices we know,
When, in our memory, this picture unrolls,
Almost the old joys are thrilling our souls.
Far, far away, are those beautiful isles,
Days of our childhood enrapt with its smiles;
Far, far away, yet with favoring gales,
Sometimes we reach them in memory's sails.

A BUNCH OF VIOLETS.

Only a bunch of violets sweet,
Only a vision of heavenly blue;
Only blue eyes they love to meet,
Only a token of love for you.
Only a little gift 'tis true,
Yet when you look with your eyes of blue
Over them fondly with tender care,
Surely my love will meet you there.

REFRAIN

Only a bunch of violets sweet,
Only blue eyes they love to meet;
So do I send them with joy to you,
Breathing my love in these violets blue.

Only a bunch of violets sweet,
Telling the story of lovely spring;
Shyly they bloom where the birds retreat
Near by the woodland their songs to sing.
Blue are the skies on a summer day,
Blue are the hills in the far-away;
Blue are these violets, yet, 'tis true,
Lovelier still are your eyes of blue.

THE SEA.

By the rolling sea, on the wave-beat shore,
Is the place I love when the breakers roar;
When the howling winds drive the angry skies
Till the shadows grow where the sea-gull flies.

When the cloudless sky wears a turquoise hue,
Then the sea replies with a deeper blue;
And its feathery edge a white rim shows
Where the sandy beach in the sunlight glows.

How the moon's soft rays, in the summer night,
On the dimpling waves paint a path of light;
And the stars like diamonds gleam afar,
While the sea sobs low on the harbor bar.

There's never a day and never an hour,
When by the sea, but we feel its power;
And whether its mood be wild or tame,
Its spell is over us just the same.

The years will come and the years will go
While ever its tide will ebb and flow;
And never its breast rest quietly
Till it laps the shore of eternity

ONE SUMMER NIGHT.

Breaking gently in milky foam,
Then returning, again to come;
    Constant never,
    Coqueting ever,
Trimming with lace the curving shore,
With silver fringing it o'er and o'er;
Thus did the waves, one summer night,
While we watched them play in the mellow light.

The moon looked down on an opal sea,
Which softly sang a lullaby;
Born of the spirit of sad unrest,
Flashing the diamonds on its breast.

O, never a fairer sight was seen
Than met our gaze that summer e'en;
    The long white reach
    Of the sandy beach,
Bathed in a marvelous pearly light,
Beckoned us on through the beauteous night;
It seemed like a walk on the Heavenly shore,
By the boundless sea of the Evermore.

'Twas a night to live in memory,
Just the fairest picture there,
To calm the troubled spirit,
Like the breath of an angel's prayer.

A haze, like the rainbow's shadow,
Crept down the arched sky,
Weaving with warp of moonlight
    A royal canopy,
Whose folds were pinned with starlights,
Whose beauty draped the sea,
And all the realm of nature
Was one grand harmony.

(A moonlight Summer night on the beach near Point Judith, R. I.)

THE COTTAGE BY THE SHORE.

There's a cottage by the sea shore,
Where the breakers ceaseless roll
Over rocks and through the inlets
Towards this cottage on the knoll.
There, are woodlands, fields and pastures,
Tempting spots in summer days
Where the rambler from the cottage
Finds reward that richly pays.

Green the hillside near the cottage,
Blue the sea in sunny days,
Golden glory in the sunsets,
Dimpling waves 'neath moonlight rays,—
Years ago, for recreation,
Resting free from toil and care,
Full released in glad vacation
Friends, life-welded, gathered there.

Many ties, then sound, are broken,
Stretching toward the Great Unknown;
Little ones, who there were romping,
Struggle now to reach life's throne.
Life is ever onward rushing,
Like the breakers, towards that shore,
Where at last it lands its pilgrims
Safely in the Evermore.

ON THE SANDY BEACH.

On the white sandy beach,
Just to sit there and gaze,
Breathing full the salt air,
While the sun sheds its rays
Over grasses and pebbles,
Over waters of blue,
Over ripples that sparkle,
Is enchanting to view.

A mysterious charm
Envelopes the soul
While we're watching the breakers
Never ending their roll;
The dance of the moonlight
With ghosts of the spray
Enthralls and bewilders,
The world fades away.

Till a trim little maiden
Trips along on the sand,
With eyes of sea blue,
Cheeks ruddy and tanned;
Robed dainty in white,
Neither stockings nor shoes,
A vision of beauty,
A charm for the muse.

BY THE SEA, A RETROSPECT.

On the curving beach we stroll
While the west is a rosy light,
Till the flash where the breakers roll
Discovers the Queen of Night.

The stars are so bright, seems the story true,
That some time they might have been
Just windows through the arch of blue,
To let heaven's glory in.

The lights on the dancing waters
Seem playing at hide and seek,
While we watch with a thrill of feeling
That language cannot speak.

The beautiful night is o'er us,
Like a master touching the strings,
Its charm plays sweetly on our hearts
Till a heavenly melody sings.

Our thoughts are ever returning,
Like little waves kissing the shore,
To the past with an infinite yearning
To live it all over once more.

SPRINGTIME.

In the shade of the old garden apple tree resting;
While breezes play softly mid blossoms and leaves,
And in its green branches the robins are nesting;
Glad notes of the springtime my fancy receives.
A perfume delicious my breath is inhaling,
The arch of the sky wears a lovely May blue,
And over its sea the white clouds are sailing,
Till, harbored in sunlight, they vanish from view.

Now down by the meadows where flowers are springing,

The swallows are curving in crescents of light,
While sweet on the air falls the jubilant singing
Of birds new redeemed from the winter's long night.

O, glorious springtime, when earth is awaking,
And Nature in beautiful garments is dressed;
Thy smile giveth life to each day's undertaking,
Thy generous heart ever brings us the best.

AFTER THE NIGHT TIME.

Now creep the stars through the twilight,
Brighter they shine, one by one;
Softly the night breezes whisper,
Rest, for the day's work is done.

Sleep gently, sleep till the morning
Waketh the birds and the flowers;
Then, when all nature is smiling
Through tears of dewdrops in showers,
Never a day can be fairer,
Never more peaceful the hours.

---

PEACE.

On the moonlit sands by the summer sea,—
Above, the vast infinity,
Full of celestial harmony;
Around, a sweet tranquility,
The slumbering days last lullaby,—
Stilled by the night's soft witchery,
We sit and dream.

The world is gone with yesterday;—
Beyond, is all a mystery,
Now, from the Night's divinity,
Falls with her beauteous drapery,
Falls on our souls like melody,
A happy peace.

THE CHRISTMAS STORY.

Christmas dawning,
Christmas morning,
Hark! The bells in gladness ring,
Joyful pealing,
This revealing,
'Tis the birthday of our King!

REFRAIN

Tell the wondrous, wondrous story,
Sing the angel's glad refrain,
"Glory in the highest, glory!
Peace on earth, good will to men!"

In the midnight,
In the star light,
From a radiance like the morn,
Came the tidings,
Joyful tidings,
"Christ, the Lord, this day is born!"

Brightly shining,
Far out-shining
All the stars of eastern skies,
Wondrous seeming,
Glory beaming,
See! The Saviour's Star arise!

SONGS SACRED AND SECULAR

Towards the sunset,
Bethlehem's sunset,
Went the wise men from afar;
Found the Stranger,
Heavenly Stranger,
Guided by the Orient Star.

"Glory, Glory,
In the highest!"
Long ago the angel's sang;
Rapture-thrilling,
Heaven filling,
Till the dome of midnight rang.

Tell the wondrous, wondrous story,
Sing the angel's glad refrain,
"Glory in the highest, glory!
Peace on earth, good will to men!"

THE RIVER OF LIFE.

There's many a snag in the river of life
And winding its currents and way,
Our bark must be steered through the storm and strife
To reach the safe harbor some day.

There's many a path leading through the mist
That covers the future, that will be missed;
We can only hope, that among them all,
The one we find will have little fall.

There's many a day when losing sight,
The way seems dark, no beacon light;
And we cannot tell which way to go
Then comes the thought, that He will know.

LIGHT OF THE MORNING.

Light of the morning, beautiful light,
Bringing the summer day,
Thrills with its splendor the stars of night
Till they silently creep away.
Over the sea, like a shower of gold,
Down from the arch of blue
Its glories shine and the waves enfold
With a beauty ever new.

Light of the morning, from eastern skies,
Joy to the birds and flowers
Cometh while over the earth it flies,
Till sweet are the sunny hours.
The night departs, afraid to stay,
And rushing with sable wings,
To the far, far west it speeds away
While the light of the morning sings.

Singing a song that 'tis joy to live,
Singing with words of cheer,
Singing of Nature ready to give
Rich gifts to her children dear.
Light of the morning, beautiful light,
Never will be surpassed
Till we reach some day in the far away,
The Light of Heaven at last.

IN THE FAR AWAY BLUE.

There's a home in the far away blue,
'Tis a beautiful story, so true,
Where the stars ever glow
While the clouds roll below,
Is our home in the far away blue.

REFRAIN

In the far away blue, in the far away blue,
Our hearts will be thrilled by the song ever new,
Where the stars ever glow while the clouds roll below
We shall meet in the far away blue.

We shall meet in the far away blue
All the dear ones in life time we knew,
Robed in garments of white,
Where the Lamb is the Light
We shall meet in the far away blue.

REFRAIN

We shall hear in the far away blue
That wonderful song, ever new,
Which the angels will sing while they worship the King

REFRAIN

O, the home in the far away blue,
At the end of life's voyage, its view
Will gladden our souls while the picture unrolls
Of our home in the far away blue.

EVENING.

Shades of night around us close,
Comes the hour of sweet repose;
Saviour, keep us by thy care
'Till Thy glorious home we share.

O'er the earth, the calm twilight
Gently breathes the birth of night,
So Thy Spirit from above
Tells us Thy eternal love.

As the morning wakes the day
Bright with many a sunlit ray;
So at last may we arise,
Perfect in Thy Holy Eyes.

A LIGHT FROM PARADISE.

I dreamed that I sailed on a river fair
Towards the heavenly Jerusalem,
While from far away, all the golden day,
Came sweet songs from the angels' home.

A storm swept the waters, the daylight fled,
Dark the night, fierce the wind and cold,
But I knew that the King of that heavenly land
Would bring me safe into His fold.

I dreamed that the King sent His angels down,
That they played on their harps of gold,
Till the storm was stilled and my soul was thrilled
While the harmonies upward rolled.

The darkness of night sped softly away,
Ne'er a cloud in the sky's blue dome,
Then a glorious Light shone from Paradise
And I knew I was almost home.

BEYOND THE STAR LIGHT.

Far, far beyond the starlight,
Above the sky-blue dome
There is a Holy City,
An everlasting home;
There songs are songs the sweetest,
With harmonies divine,
There Light is Light eternal,
There needs no sun to shine.

Jerusalem the golden
On earth its name is known,
Blest home of happy angels
Who sing around the throne;
Some day in the hereafter
With loved ones gone before,
We'll live in heaven's sunshine
And peace for evermore.

Around the walls of jasper
Are fields of living green
Bedecked with flowers of beauty,
The fairest ever seen.
No storm within its portals,
No fear by night or day;
The Lamb of God its glory,
Our Saviour, King alway.

THE GREAT WHITE THRONE.

I've read of a wonderful great white throne,
Far, far away,
Beyond the stars, the beautiful stars,
In the region of endless day;
There a marvelous light hides the face of night,
For the Lamb is the light alway.

REFRAIN

Beyond the stars, the beautiful stars,
Where the angels are praising the Holy One,
Where a marvelous light hides the face of night,
There standeth the wonderful great white throne.

Rich harmonies roll round the great white throne,
Far, far away,
For a wonderful throng sings the grand new song,
While the harps of the angels play
And a marvelous light hides the face of night,
For the Lamb is the light alway.

REFRAIN

Hosannas ring to the Saviour, King,
Far, far away,
To the Holy One on the great white throne,
To the Lord of eternal day;
While a marvelous light hides the face of night,
For the Lamb is the light alway

THE HEAVENLY LAND.

My song shall be of heaven,
Dear land of life and light,
Where days are days unending
Without a cheerless night;
Where golden harps are playing
And sound the heavenly lyres
And songs of sweetest music
Are sung by angel choirs.

REFRAIN

O, land of joy forever,
O, home most wondrous fair;
In Paradise, the blessed
God's peace and love will share.

There beautiful the mansions
Our Saviour has prepared
For those who here have loved Him
And in His service shared,
Beside the living waters
In Eden's happy land,
Embowered in lasting verdure
Those heavenly mansions stand.

REFRAIN

Would you too share its glory,
Would you there enter in,
Believe this precious story:
Christ pardons all your sin,
And if you now will trust Him
And serve Him evermore,
Some joyful day He'll meet you
Upon fair Eden's shore.

THE SONG CELESTIAL.

Hushed was the hour of twilight
And dumb the massive bell,
Within the dim cathedral
A solemn stillness fell.
The multitude were kneeling,
The white-robed preacher bent,
A holy calm seemed stealing
Like dew from heaven sent.

Angels in glory waited
Above the dome of blue,
And sang a song far sweeter
Than mortals ever knew.
See! From the choir a maiden,
Her face like Heaven's shine,
Oh, wondrous inspiration,
She caught the strain divine.

Like notes from Paradise,
Her soul in every tone,
She sang the Song Celestial
Heard at the Great White Throne:
A melody entrancing,
Soft, quivering in the air,
Beneath the arches floated
And rose to Heaven, a prayer.

Breathless, the people listened,
Hearts almost ceased to beat,
Earth seemed to be receding,
And near, the Golden Street.
They saw the walls of jasper
And, mossy banks between,
The Crystal River flowing
By fields of living green.

The maiden's song had ended
When, lo! a glorious crown,
Borne by a band of angels,
From Heaven came gently down;
Upon her brow they placed it,
Clothed her in raiment white
And by their wings, uplifted
Bore her to realms of light

Once more the music rolled,
And now the angels sang
The glorious Song Celestial,
Till Heaven's arches rang:
Its wondrous strains of melody
Thrilled all the heavenly throng,
And round the throne of God became
The everlasting song.

FALLING LEAVES.

Falling leaves, falling leaves,
Back to earth,
Back to the source that gave them birth.
So do we, life's voyage past,
Take down the sails, release the mast,
And willing, cross the storm-lashed beach
Our Father's welcome home to reach.

OVER THE RIVER.

Over the river our loved ones wait,
Wait in our Father's dwelling,
Watching our pathway till time grows late,
While life's story is telling.
Glorious songs will the angels sing
While we are crossing the river,
Dear ones will join in our welcoming
Home to the bright forever.

Close by the river the Boatman stands,
Waiting His children to carry
Over the waters to heavenly lands,
There forever to tarry.
Beautiful home in the far away,
Thither our footsteps are tending,
Shineth the light of eternal day,
There with a glory unending.

Time as it passes will surely bring
All of us near to the river;
Fear not its crossing, our Saviour, King
Safely from harm will deliver.
Eye hath not seen ever land so far,
Sweet is the wonderful story
Told of the joys that await us there,
When we shall enter its glory.

THE TRUE PATHWAY.

Could we roll back the curtain that covers the past,
    Could we clear from life's shore the sands of time,
We would see the blue skies with no clouds overcast
    And hear the joy-bells of our childhood, chime.

Then the path will seem brighter as farther we go.
    While we enter the region of joys' overflow,
And the schoolmates we loved will seemingly say
    "Come nearer and nearer, come join in our play."

There are sweet little faces, the boys and the girls,
    Bareheaded they frolic, child-nature unfurls;
Their shouting and laughing brings the times as of old;
    We've reached the joy-harbor, we're back in the fold.

'Tis our childhood again:—then the curtain drops down
    And the waves of the past recede from the shore;
The pathway now leads from the cross to the crown
    In the Beautiful Land of the Evermore.

RINGING OF THE CHIMES.

Chimes were sweetly ringing,
    Ringing one summer eve,
Dropping their musical diamonds
    Down in a fairy sieve
Made by the lights and shadows
    Floating beneath the trees,
Gently woven together
    By the soft evening breeze.

Chimes were ringing, ringing,
    Ringing each joyful bell,
Dropping their musical diamonds
The old, old songs to tell.

Sitting there I listened,
    Listened to hear their ring,
Ringing the old-time music,
    Songs that I used to sing;
Then, when their musical story
    Ended at twilight's fall,
Waves of the past were bringing
    Songs from my memory's hall.

Chimes were ringing, ringing,
    Ringing each joyful bell,
Dropping their musical diamonds
The old, old songs to tell.

Long lost melodies, creeping
    Out of the sands of time,
Tuned by my fanciful musings,
    Tuned to a tone sublime;

SONGS SACRED AND SECULAR

Moonlight, shadowy visions,
Visions of olden times
Folded their charms around me,
Moved by the ringing chimes.

Chimes were ringing, ringing,
Ringing each joyful bell,
Dropping their musical diamonds,
The old, old songs to tell.

(One summer eve, while sitting under the trees in the Boston public garden, near to the many churches.)
